LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

DONATE NOW

On this day in 1920, the United States took a major step toward equality when the 19th Amendment was certified, granting some women the right to vote.

However, 106 years later, women still lack equality, from the workplace to the doctor's office to the ballot box. There is still so much work to be done.

Today, on Women's Inequality Day, we recognize that the fight for equality is not yet over.

One way we're honoring the ongoing battle for equality is by partnering with the Women's Suffrage National Monument Foundation to support the creation of the first monument on the National Mall dedicated to the history of American women. Learn more about the work that we're doing and see how you can support this historic effort.

Today, we must carry on the incredible work of their movement. Let's take up the mantle to ensure all women are guaranteed equality for years to come.
